

Last week, Carly styled Peking her way, I (Kate) thought about what my way would be and we turned it into a contest! Keep your eyes peeled on Style Fridays moving forwards, we might just do something like this again. Today, we're sharing some of the amazing entries with you all, and announcing the winner!

First up, Redribbonfox was jonesing for some floral jeans and came up with this:

Traceyalice changed the sweater to gray and put together an outfit that I'm now dying to own:

Mizkathychin thought about a dressy evening and proved that you can do volume on top and volume on the bottom at the same time:

Marnie (who is not allowed to win the contest) wants a picnic on the beach in palazzo pants:

And Gidgetm went for casual with lovely accessories:

I thought this was super fun and I hope you all enjoyed it too. It was really great to see everyone's individual sense of style! The random number generator made Mizkathychin the winner of a free pattern. Yayyyyyy! Thank you all for playing!