

We went to new heights scouting locations for winter. Climbing up there was way too terrifying to do it a second time so we came up with plan B.

